Little Red Riding Hood

Once upon a time, there was a sweet little girl who lived with her mother in a cottage near the forest. Everyone who saw her loved her, but most of all her grandmother, who gave her a little red riding hood. So everyone called her Little Red Riding Hood.

One day, her mother said, "Take this basket of goodies to your grandmother's house, but don't stray from the path!" So Little Red Riding Hood set off, but she met a wolf along the way. The wolf asked her where she was going, and she innocently told him.

The wolf took a shortcut and arrived at the grandmother's house first. He swallowed the grandmother whole, put on her clothes, and got into her bed. When Little Red Riding Hood arrived, she noticed her grandmother looked strange.

"Oh, Grandmother, what big eyes you have!"
"All the better to see you with, my dear."
"Oh, Grandmother, what big ears you have!"
"All the better to hear you with, my dear."
"Oh, Grandmother, what big teeth you have!"
"All the better to eat you with!"

And with that, the wolf jumped out of bed and swallowed Little Red Riding Hood too. But just then, a hunter was passing by and heard the commotion. He rushed in and rescued both the girl and her grandmother by cutting open the wolf's belly.

They all lived happily ever after.

The End.
